Hi, my name is Audrey and I live in Florida. It seems like fate that I found no greater gift adoptions. I was looking through the phone book just trying to find an agency worthy of calling. I called around but none of the agencies would return my call. Amy, from no greater gift adoptions, was the only one who returned my call. I talked with her on several occasions and began to feel very comfortable with her. Amy was great. Hillary, also from no greater gift adoptions, would call and talk with me. I honestly feel that Hillary is an angel. I love her to death. Hillary sent me some family profiles and one really caught my eye. They looked so happy to be with each other that I wanted them to raise my baby girl. I let Amy know that this was the family for me. I also got to talk with them on several occasions. I loved them from the very first time I visited with them.

I was 8 months pregnant and was getting nervous. I knew it was time for me to fly to Utah. I was really scared. My kids and I (Lanetta 5, Janae 4, and Ja'Carree 1) got on the plane. I was pregnant again and did not think I could handle it physically, financially, and emotionally. I wanted my baby to have a father in her life; something my other kids don't have. While I was in Utah, I really got to know the family who were going to adopt my baby. We spent a lot of time together. I chose an open adoption plan. I really felt like no greater gift adoptions cared about me; not just my baby.

Thank you to K and K for being the best parents my baby could have. Thank you for all the love that I received. Thank you to no greater gift adoptions for everything. You are the best! If you are thinking about adoption, no greater gift adoptions would be the one to call. They have a great staff with people who really care.

Love, Audrey
